

He is an Associate Professor in Medical Neuroscience at the Universiti Sains Malaysia (USM), School of Medical Sciences, USM Health Campus, Kelantan. He completed his dual medical and doctoral research training of MBBCh/PhD degrees at Cardiff University, UK and Weatherall Institute of Molecular Medicine, Oxford University, UK. He is a co-founder and current Doctor of Neuroscience Programme Coordinator for USM mixed-mode graduate studies. He currently serves as Honorary Advisor for Basic Neuroscience Council, Malaysian Society of Neurosciences (MSN), Council Member of the Federation of Asia-Oceanian Neuroscience Societies (FAONS), Governing Council Member for Malaysia at the International Brain Research Organisation (IBRO), a panel member for Trainee Professional Development Award Selection Committee Society for Neuroscience (SfN, USA) and UNESCO Mentor Knowledge For Change (K4C), community-based participatory research at K4C@USM Hub. His area of scholarly interests, publications and research grants include cerebrovascular; brain rewards circuitry; neurocognition; and community neuroscience engagement.